HERMITAGE HALL'S NEW CFO IS CHRISTOPHER LEONARD

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Christopher T. Leonard has been named chief financial officer of Hermitage Hall, one of the nation's largest providers for sexually abusive youth.

Leonard, who earned an MBA degree from Middle Tennessee State University, had served as regional financial manager at Universal Health Services prior to his appointment as CFO of Hermitage Hall.

Hermitage Hall, which operates a 112-bed residential sex offender program for adolescent males ages 9-18, is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF) and licensed by the Tennessee Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities. Hermitage Hall is a member of the KidLink Placement Network, a national referral source for education and treatment programs helping troubled kids or at-risk youth.
